Join ReEmployAbility at the California Workers' Compensation & Risk Conference, Sept. 3-6, 2019

Tampa, FL (August 28, 2019) – ReEmployAbility will attend the annual California Workers' Compensation & Risk Conference taking place September 3-6 at the Monarch Beach Resort in Dana Point, California.

The 9th annual event is a premier conference and expo for industry professionals with more than 1,500 risk management professionals attending to learn from industry experts, identify best practices, network and learn about cost containment solutions for employers.

The conference will address the new legal requirements, as well as specific cost containment challenges faced by California employers in the workers' comp market.

"We are very excited to be a part of this event," said Co-founder and CEO Debra Livingston. "It is our second year exhibiting at this conference and we look forward to attending alongside our partners in the area."

ReEmployAbility's National Account Executive, Mary Bennett, and Account Executive for the South Central & West Region, Corie Wider, will be at booth #24 during the conference to discuss ReEmployAbility's Transition2Work program and how it can help injured workers and employers.

Visit www.cwcriskconference.org to register for or learn more about the CWC & Risk Conference.

About ReEmployAbility:

Founded in 2003, ReEmployAbility is the largest national provider of early return-to-work (RTW) services and transitional employment. Their Transition2Work® program offers employers a cost-effective solution to modified light duty assignments, reducing claim costs while giving the injured employee time to heal. Utilizing an accredited, national network of not-for-profit partners, they help employers accommodate injured workers in the transition back to work by connecting people to a greater purpose so they can have a better life.
